Facilitator’s Guide

Significant Leadership Characteristics

Character matters; leadership descends from character. —Rush Limbaugh

Rationale:
For maximum leadership development potential, it is important for every person to have a strong understanding of what leadership is, what good leadership looks like and how it can vary task and relationship-oriented approaches for maximum leadership development potential.

Goal:
To recognize significant leadership characteristics for increasing individual leadership development opportunities in a variety of situations

Program Objectives:
- Distinguish the three basic factors that define leadership.
- Identify characteristics of successful leaders.
- Compare differences between relationship and task-oriented leadership approaches.

Pre-Program Preparation:
- Copy the Significant Leadership Characteristics fact sheet and Characteristics chart for each participant.
- Collect pictures of five to six great leaders such as Gandhi, Abraham Lincoln, local community leaders.
- Copy the Question and Quotes handout for each group.
- Make “Task vs. Relationship (Approach) Strengths” cards
- Secure pencils/pens/markers, wall poster/paper, highlighters, baskets/containers marked “task-oriented” and “relationship-oriented”

Introduction:
Leadership can be seen all around us. From the local pastor to the County Judge Executive to the Little League Baseball coach, leadership is played out in a variety of situations every day. Everyone has the opportunity to be a leader at some time, so it is important that every person have a strong understanding of what leadership is, what good leadership looks like, and how leadership approaches can vary. Learning about leadership will make you much more effective next time it is your turn to lead.

Introductory Activity:
Post or show pictures of five to six great leaders. Include individuals such as Gandhi, Abraham Lincoln, Napoleon, Mother Theresa. (Continue the list on your own. Include a few local great leaders, so the audience can make a personal connection with the activity.) Ask the audience to consider the list, and together brainstorm what characteristics and traits make these leaders exceptional. Write the list on flipchart/wall poster. After a few minutes, move into Learning Activity 1 while leaving the list on the board to refer to later.

Objective 1. Distinguish the three basic factors that define leadership
Leadership is important within a wide variety of situations. A good, basic definition of leadership is to influence others toward a shared goal. Three important factors shape any leadership definition: Leadership is a group occurrence that is directed by a goal and has a definite structure.

Learning Activity 1:
Divide the participants into groups and distribute the Leadership Definition Factor Scramble cards, two envelopes to each group. One envelope with have three factors. The other will have three sentences. The other will have three sentences. Have the participants arrange the cards to connect the right factor with the right sentence. Once they’re assembled, post the completed sentences with the correct factor for participants to see.

These three factors include:
- Group occurrence—A leader cannot practice leadership without at least one person following.
• Directed by a goal—The leader must be leading the group toward a shared goal that followers believe in.
• Structured—To be effective, structure is needed within the leader-follower relationship.

Objective 2. Identify characteristics of successful leaders

Effective leaders share many common characteristics. Several of these characteristics are directly tied to the three factors we just discussed. At the beginning of the lesson, we discussed characteristics of great leaders. Let us compare our list of characteristics with a list developed from research studies of effective leaders. (Share the Leadership Characteristics chart.) What similarities exist between the two lists?

Learning Activity 2: Characteristics Study Activity

- Separate group into small groups of four or five individuals.
- Give each group a Question and Quotes segment and the characteristic chart.
- Participants will compare the Question and Quotes segment with the Leadership Characteristics chart and highlight which characteristics come out in the quote or question they were assigned.
- Each group should be ready to discuss its quotes and question and corresponding characteristics with the group.

Objective 3. Compare differences between relationship and task-oriented leadership approaches

While successful leaders generally share similar characteristics, one way they may differ is by taking a more relationship or task-oriented approach to leadership. A “relationship-oriented” leader focuses first on the leader-follower relationship, and then decides how to accomplish the task. On the other hand, “task-oriented” leaders first consider the task, and then they think through how the leader-follower relationship will be affected. While each of these approaches views the leadership process slightly differently, both are appropriate in different situations.

Learning Activity 3.

Being more task or relationship-oriented allows leaders to be more effective within different leadership situations. The key is matching the leader demonstrating the right approach (either relationship or task oriented) with the right situation.

Distribute Task vs. Relationship (Approach) Strengths cards to participants. Ask participants to read their cards and place the cards in the appropriate basket, marked “relationship-oriented” or “task-oriented.”

Relationship-oriented strengths:
- Democratic
- Participative
- Inspiring motivation
- Individualized attention to one’s followers
- Reward successful follower behaviors

Task-oriented strengths:
- Autocratic
- Directive
- More likely to ask for what they want
- Skills at negotiation

Being more task or relationship-oriented allows leaders to be more effective within different leadership situations. The key is matching the leader demonstrating the right approach (either relationship or task oriented) with the right situation.

Ask volunteers to select two strength cards from each of the baskets. Read each card and ask the participants to give examples of an Extension Homemaker situation in which the leadership strength would be an effective strategy to influence others toward a shared goal.

Summary

Just as there are specific factors that contribute toward an accurate definition of leadership, there are also some common characteristics shared by effective leaders. Realizing what characteristics are associated with successful leaders is important for personal leadership development, and helps give the individual a clear picture of who they are as a leader. The same is true for an individual’s preferred approach to leadership. By understanding how leadership styles differ for more task or relationship-oriented men and women, people can be put into the right situations in order to excel as a leader.

References

Developed by Melissa Goodman, Hickman County Extension Agent–FCS; Janet H. Johnson, Allen County Extension Agent–FCS; and Laura F. Stephenson, Kentucky FCS Extension Program Leader.
Leadership Characteristics Chart

Confidence
Consistency between word and action—“walking the talk”

Creativity
Active listening skills
Efficient coaching skills

Visioning
Ability to inspire
Long-term focus

Ability to balance individual needs and team needs
Awareness of realistic conditions

Willingness to share credit or recognition
Strong self-esteem
Sense of priorities
Service mentality

Sincerity
Technical expertise

Trust
Willingness to share responsibility
Kentucky Senator Denise Harper Angel

“I truly love public service. Being in a capacity to make real and positive change in the lives of the citizens of my district and in all our Commonwealth is an honor beyond explanation.”

Tony Robbins

“I challenge you to make your life a masterpiece. I challenge you to join the ranks of those people who live what they teach, who walk their talk.”

“People are not lazy. They simply have impotent goals —that is, goals that do not inspire them.”

“The only limit to your impact is your imagination and commitment.”

Source: http://www.brainyquote.com/quotes/authors/t/tony_robbins.html

John Maxwell

“A great leader’s courage to fulfill his vision comes from passion, not position.”

“A leader is one who knows the way, goes the way, and shows the way.”

“Competence goes beyond words. It’s the leader’s ability to say it, plan it, and do it in such a way that others know that you know how—and know that they want to follow you.”

Source: http://thinkexist.com/quotes/john_c._maxwell/2.html
Leadership Definition Factor Scramble Cards

Directions: Make as many copies of this sheet as you will have groups. Cut each copy into strips at the dotted lines. For each group, put the three bold-faced statements in one envelope and the three sentences in another.

A group occurrence

A leader cannot practice leadership without at least one person following.

Directed by a goal

The leader must be leading the group toward a shared goal that followers believe in.

Structured

Some type of structure is needed within the leader-follower relationship.
Task vs. Relationship (Approach) Strengths

Directions: Make enough copies of this sheet for the number of participants. Laminate each sheet. Cut the sheets on the dotted lines into individual cards. Give each participant a full set of cards.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Democratic</th>
<th>Autocratic</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Participative</td>
<td>Directive</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inspiring motivation</td>
<td>Skills at negotiation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Individualized attention to one’s followers</td>
<td>More likely to ask for what they want</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reward successful follower behaviors</td>
<td>Negotiating Skills</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>